SAD #44 fiscal '89 budget goes before voters Monday

At the SAD #44 District Budget Meeting Monday, area taxpayers will be asked to approve an overall school district budget for the coming fiscal year of $5,042,109, up 13 percent from the current year's budget.

Voters will also be asked to approve an Adult and Community Education budget of $89,656, of which $35,256 is to be raised locally. These figures are up, respectively, 24 percent and 39 percent from this year.

If voters pass both budgets as proposed in the warrant, the total amount to be raised through local assessment will be $2,117,834, up 13 percent from this year's assessment of $1,876,518.

Voters will also be asked to allocate, from this total budget figure, a Regional Vocational Budget of $282,016 (up 9 percent), of which $69,454 (up 15 percent) will come from the local assessment in SAD #44; and a vocational adult education budget of $37,935 (up 38 percent), of which $1,549 (up 21 percent) is to be raised locally.

Both vocational budgets are included in the basic school budget—that is, they do not entail raising additional funds. According to Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig, approximately half of the $399,150 overall budget increase will go toward funding new or revised curriculum programs within the district, paying for additional personnel and fun-

Cable company hopes to operate system in Andover

A New Hampshire-based cable TV company hopes to construct and operate a cable TV system in Andover. The offer will be put to voters at a special town meeting in the next couple of weeks. Selectman Laura Hutchins said she expects the meeting to be the end of this month or the beginning of next.

The question to be put before the voters will be whether or not to approve a monopoly franchise for the company. Mrs. Hutchins said the exact wording of the ordinance granting the franchise is still being worked on by the town's attorneys.

The company, Grassroots Cable Systems, Inc., of Portsmouth, N.H., specializes in building cable systems in small communities. Company manager Peter Lev told The Citizen: "We've made it our business to concentrate on the smaller towns, therefore the name 'Grassroots'."

Mr. Lev said company officers figure there are about 180 homes in town and they estimate they can get at least 30 percent to sign up as subscribers to their cable system.

Mr. Lev said the company's theory is that in smaller, isolated communities, even though the number of households may be few, and the density of households per mile may be low, the percentage of households who want to subscribe will be higher than in larger, suburban towns. Mr. Lev said the com-

The new personnel positions include teachers at WES, CPS and the high school, plus the creation of a separate principalship at the Andover Elementary School.

The program improvements include redesign of the physical education and music programs and the purchase of new equipment and supplies for these programs.

Approximately $20,000 has also been allocated for the purchase of photocopiers for the elementary schools.

Budget Committee puts new ambulance on hold

The Bethel Budget Committee, at its meeting last week, began tackling the capital expenditure items on the proposed fiscal 1989 budget. On a close vote, 5-4, the committee rejected the wishes of the Bethel Ambulance Service, the town manager and the Board of Selectmen and declined to appropriate money to purchase an ambulance next fiscal year.

The budget, as tentatively approved by the selectmen, had envisioned spending $55,000 for a new ambulance to replace the B.E.A.R.S.'s older vehicle, #99. The vehicle is 13 years old and has 56,000 miles on it.

Budget Committee Chairwoman Jane Young asked the B.E.A.R.S.'s Francis Buckman, "Could you make your ambulance go another year without putting too much money into it?"

"To be honest with you, yes," responded the ambulance attendant.

The town already has $37,000 banked in an ambulance replacement fund and the proposed budget called for putting an additional $18,000 into this account in fiscal 1989 to come up with the purchase price. However, upon a motion by Dave Head, this amount was reduced to $10,000, with the understanding that the purchase of a replacement vehicle would wait a year.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch objected to deferring the purchase a year. "You've got to take into consideration what the price will increase from this year to next year," he cautioned. But after some discussion, the motion to hold up the purchase for a year did pass.

A few of the committee members wanted to also slash the $5,000 earmarked for further renovations to the town office, but the funding requested by the selectmen passed, 5-3 (with members Bob Chadbourne, David Head and Dick Douglass opposed).

Town Manager Lynch explained to the committee that the selectmen plan to go ahead with remodeling a vacant office as their meeting room in the current fiscal year. The amount in the current budget—$9,000—will not cover the cost of the work, he said, but they will make up the difference by using rents from the tenants in the municipal building. He noted that Town Meeting had already approved the concept. The $5,000 requested in the new budget is for work in other parts of the town office, he said.

The Budget Committee also reconsidered another one of their earlier votes regarding the town office. Earlier they had voted to trim the budget request of $10,000 for town office equipment to $6,500. At issue was whether the town office should spend $6,500 on a new copy machine, plus $3,500 on a word processor and an upgrade of a present word-processing typewriter.

Town Clerk Merton Brown told the committee the new copy machine, with collating ability, was absolutely essential, as was some word processing capability and additional typewriting capability. On a reversal of their original action, the board voted 6-2 for the entire $10,000 requested.

Committee member Dick Douglass, who made the motion for the $10,000, said, "It's just another pear tree. They're gonna get it anyway." [He was referring to the vote reversing earlier action on the shade tree budget.]

The two who voted against the $10,000 were Bob Chadbourne and Jane Young. Mr. Chadbourne said he didn't deny that the office needed the additional equipment, but he said, "We've got to start prioritizing."

Bethel officials plan progress at Col. Dyke field

The Bethel Board of Selectmen, at their meeting Monday night, voted unanimously to proceed with the paving of the new runway at Col. Dyke Field. The 3,150-foot runway was constructed last summer by the Maine Army National Guard.

Monday night the selectmen decided to hire the engineering firm of Hunter-Balwell, of Falmouth, to push ahead with pre-paving design work, survey and appraisal coordination, and administration of the bidding for and supervision of the actual construction. Total cost of the contract is $69,500.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch said he expects the money to be reimbursed to the town by the federal government. The town has received informal assurances that the FAA will approve a grant to pay for the design work as well as the actual paving, which is expected to cost over $500,000. Mr. Lynch said he expects the FAA to announce the grant in June.

The selectmen wanted to act on the contract before receiving word on the grant in order to ensure that the paving could be accomplished this construction season, Mr. Lynch said. The contract with whatever firm is the successful bid-

G'stock transfer station stays open in spite of landfill uncertainties

Last week's possible pollution problems at the Norridgewock landfill did not affect the operation of the Greenstock transfer station. The station sends its collected solid waste to Norridgewock.

Consolidated Waste Systems, operators of the landfill, ordered its municipal landfill customers to halt deliveries for two days last week, following the discovery of a leakage of uncertain origin. The landfill was re-opened for half a day yesterday (Tuesday), and Greenwood officials were informed that the landfill planned to re-open "indefinitely" on Wednesday (today).

Thanks to good—that is, lucky—timing, the Greenstock transfer station was unaffected by the confusion and uncertainty at Norridgewock.

Greenwood Selectman Marie Bartlett said trash is hauled out on Tuesdays from the Greenstock transfer station to the landfill, and a load went out last Tuesday (before the closing) and this Tuesday (during the brief re-opening).

The long-term status of the landfill, and of its proposed expansion, remains unclear. But as the forces of politics, public relations, profit and environmentalism collide in Norridgewock and Augusta, townsfolk of Greenwood and Woodstock can continue to take their

Skiway's White Cap to get new quad lifts and expert 'super trail'

Sunday River Skiway's 1988/89 expansion program will focus on the skiway's White Cap area, including a new "super trail"—White Heat—which the skiway bills as "the steepest, longest, widest, lift-served expert trail in the East."

Sunday River President Les Otten announced the $4.5 million expansion program at a barbecue held Saturday at D.W. McKen's Restaurant, the proposed site for a new 15,000 square-foot base lodge.

According to Mr. Otten, skier days at Sunday River were up 31 percent this past season—yet another record for the skiway.

Expansion projects during the summer will concentrate on four on-mountain areas: uphill lift capacity, trails, snowmaking capability and coverage and base facilities.

Two quadruple chairlifts will enable skiers to reach the summit of White Cap, opening new terrain for the lower intermediate to expert skier. White Heat, White Cap's main attraction for expert skiers, will feature a 60 percent (31 degree) maximum slope, a 43 percent (23 degree) average grade over the course of a 3,550-foot-long, 200-foot-wide trail.

In addition, three intermediate, two advanced and one novice trail will be cut at White Cap. This will bring to 56 the total number of interconnecting trails on the skiway's five mountain peaks.

The two new lifts will increase the skiway's uphill lift capacity by 4,800 skiers per hour, to 19,550—the highest capacity in Maine, New Hampshire or northern Vermont, according to Sunday River officials.

Snowmaking improvements include 50 additional acres of snowmaking coverage, bringing total man-made coverage to 370 acres, or 88 percent of the trail system.

Two new Piston Bulls will be added to Sunday River's grooming fleet. One of these, a "Winch Cat," will be used especially for grooming the steep White

Newry Planning Board to inspect proposed Bear River site April 27

The Newry Planning Board will hold an on-site inspection next Wednesday, April 27, of the proposed development site of the MCW Corp. on the Bear River Road. The inspection will start at 6 p.m. Following the inspection, the Planning Board will meet at the municipal building to discuss the proposed development, as well as condominium plans of Sunday River Ski Resort.

The proposed Bear River subdivision envisions 20 units on 19½ acres, part of which lies within the shoreland zone, according to acting Planning Board Chairman Jim Sysko.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

[The following is a copy of a letter written to Joanne Walters.]

The first time I read your Letter to the Editor, Bethel Citizen, April 13, 1988, I thought, "Good, there's somebody out there with more sense. We have a new candidate for selectman." The job also includes attending the following local meetings: Planning Board, Comprehensive Plan, Budget, Recreation, and Appeals Board committee meetings. In addition, there's an obligation to attend the following other meetings: municipal officers seminars by MMA, seminars by AVCOG, solid waste locally, solid waste county, and several unannounced special. Usually a requirement is to do the necessary homework. I changed my mind since you obviously didn't do yours. At the famous meeting there was absolutely nothing mentioned about the Woodstock Elementary School, and rightfully so. Since you will probably see Denise Putnam before I will, would [you] please inform her that there was also nothing mentioned about computers. She might like to know that I spearheaded the "Don't Yank the Crank" campaign in Bryant Pond, and when the committee dissolved and paid all its bills, the tidy balance in the checkbook was disbursed to the Woodstock Fire Department, Tri-Town Ambulance and the Woodstock Elementary School for a computer.

Yes, we did talk about developers catching the area with its proverbial "pant down." If you would take the time to read the preliminary Comprehensive Plan for Woodstock, perhaps you would understand why. These unpaid and dedicated people, a sub-committee of an unpaid and dedicated Planning Board, have put together a "Voice of the People." The findings clearly express a concern over scathing the natural beauty of the area with development. Both of these groups, along with the Conservation Committee, will direct their attentions to anything that's going to be detrimental to our lakes, ponds, rivers, streams and drinking water. They will find a happy medium.

It is not Maine's fault that west of Boston and God knows how far, that lakes, ponds, rivers, ground and drinking water is all polluted. No one can blame our locals because other states have sacrificed hunting, fishing, good drinking water and fresh air for the almighty dollar. Around here people are content to sacrifice a great deal for these God-given benefits; it has become a way of life. They will find a happy medium.

Please come to the town office. I would like to show you that Woodstock's condos could have raised the shore frontage value to $1,027 per foot. When this figure did come up, the selectmen did show some sense. They convinced the state that this was an unrealistic figure. I would like to show you that the state applies real estate sales as real value. The state value for Woodstock increased $3,800,000 last year. This was a result of developmental growth and homes in the area that sold for three and four times greater than the assessed value. This makes it very difficult for the municipal officers to maintain a sensible value on the books. To add more salt to the wound, when the state valuation increases, the education subsidy decreases.

If local people don't rise up and at least have a say in growth and development, they will experience instant financial responsibility, which will in turn drive the hard-working people to low-income housing. If developers cause this to happen, and it becomes necessary to convert condos to low-income housing, that's a pretty damn cheap trade-off. By hook or by crook they'll get their money. It will just take longer. If there are any bankers in this area who haven't learned about the precarious situation condos can become, if the bubble breaks, I'd be surprised.

Before you make any more public statements, I invite you again to come to the town office and check state reports and valuation cards. They tell the impact on taxes. They do not tell the impact on schools, law enforcement, code enforcement, fire protection, highway budgets, municipal staffing, municipal buildings, septic disposal, garbage disposal and utilities; that's common sense. New taxes simply do not balance out those additional expenses in a town, nor have they helped to lower taxes in Woodstock.

While you are at the town office, please consider being appointed to any of the following volunteer committees: Plan-

A note from the publisher

One of the most interesting, and most unique, parts of The Citizen are the columns written by our town correspondents. While each correspondent writes differently and chooses to emphasize different aspects of life in her town, all the columns share the same basic importance: that is, they afford us a close look at what's going on in our area. Much different from the reports on budgets, programs and ideas, commerce and industry, and features that make up most of the rest of the paper.

One of the complaints I hear about the town columns, however, is that the names of people mentioned are frequently the same, week after week.

On the other side of the coin, the most frequent complaint I get from our loyal correspondents is that people in town don't bother to call them and tell them what's happening in their family or their club or their neighborhood or their church.

May I suggest to those of you who want to see more names in your local correspondent's column, give her a call. I know she'd be delighted to have some more news to include in her column. I say "her," because all of our correspondents at the moment are women. This has not always been the case, and we would love to have some male correspondents.

We also need correspondents in towns that are currently not being covered. Bethel, Gilead and Magalloway all need correspondents. If your town does not have a correspondent, and if you would like to write for The Citizen, please give us a call, at 824-2444.

We would also like to have a regular reporter in the Andover area to report on town government. The same for West Paris.

Our photographer, Jeanne Boelsma, will be retiring soon, to have another baby, and we'd like to locate one or two skilled photographers in the area who can take photos for us.

We also have a need for someone who knows his or her way around computers to work one or two nights a week—or on weekends—entering our subscription list onto our computer.

If you're interested in any of these positions—or if you have some skill that I haven't mentioned and that you think the paper or print shop could use, please give us a call at the office.

ning Board, Conservation, Budget, Appeals Board, Recreation or the town garage/salt shed committee. There are a total of 14 openings. There is also a clerk's position available with flexible hours and no benefits. The job pays $4.50 an hour. Perhaps some exposure in these areas would encourage you to run for selectman in 1989. This position has flexible volunteer hours and no benefits. The job pays $6.00 an hour.

[The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Newry Board of Selectmen.]

I was very upset to learn that Veronica Smith was not re-appointed to the Planning Board. Without the persistence and hard work of Veronica, Newry would not have a Comprehensive Plan. At a time when Newry needs a Planning Board with dedicated, experienced members, it does not make sense to replace someone who is willing to serve and has served well. Could it be that she was too persistent?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

"Love man, trust few, and always paddle your own canoe."
At my first selectmen's meeting, I was warned about newspaper reporters, and reporting styles. As a matter of fact, one selectman, who absolutely refused to speak in front of or to a particular reporter, said, "If you want to be quoted, write it down."

No selectman said that they wanted more say in the school budget. The grouping of the quotes and the final implication of the article (Bethel Citizen, April 6, 1988) took things out of context. The article implies that SAD #44 educators have purchased lakefront property in Woodstock. I am quite sure that the records will show that there aren't any SAD #44 educators who own any property in Woodstock!

My recollection is that the entire meeting centered around development, impact fees, code enforcement, inspection problems, various other expenses and problems that developers would like the locals to subsidize, and the popular increases in the school budget. Some very important comments were made about funding education in the State of Maine. Newspapers seem to low-key this problem. Relative to the state funding education through property taxation, there were some very good statements made.

Whether or not the state subsidizes education is irrelevant; it all comes out of the same pocket.

2. Most people can relate to the "promise" of help via the Maine State Lottery. It never came.

3. Many know well that the increase in real estate transfer tax generated millions of dollars. All of this windfall was shuttled off into the general fund coffers in Augusta. To my knowledge not one penny went to relieve the taxpayers of the education mandates.

4. Statewide, small towns are sacrificing roads and other benefits that taxes should provide.

For those of you who read the less sensational article about the concerns of former students, the good product quote needs no further explanation. In defense of my colleague's quote about Outward Bound, it was disturbing to hear that the students were encouraged to "express themselves freely" and four-letter words prevailed. Now really, that's old hat; that's not learning!

Woodstock's selectmen's meetings have been blessed with reporters long before I came on the board. We should feel honored. It has put us in the limelight. We must be good for selling newspapers, if nothing else. If the selectmen get tired of these visits we could opt for several executive sessions per meeting. It worked in a neighboring town. If any of you acquire the visits, please bring a prodding stick. One of our reporters cat-napped at least three times during this meeting. What appeared to be a very boring meeting generated the controversial story.

In response to the "Note from the publisher," last paragraph same edition, these dedicated selectmen, who take their jobs seriously, are awake and hear the cries of fear almost every day. We are well aware that escalating taxes are becoming a very threatening problem to the local people. That's the purpose of the meetings!

The other newspaper reporter who attended this meeting said, "It was the most positive meeting that group has ever held." However, I did make some negative statements about the state funding program, developer demands and the runaway Adult Education Program. I also made some very positive statements about improvements at SAD #44, one of which was communications. Someone else asked about "seeing the proposed salaries of SAD #44 in The Bethel Citizen." I said, "I haven't seen them. I seldom read that paper."

I'll paddle my own canoe, thank you.

To the Editor:

Lucien Frechette was a man who inspired many people. Through his many years he touched the lives of both family and friends, something few people in this world have had the ability to do. He reigned as the patriarch of the Frechette family for many years, standing strong in his role as father, grandfather, brother, uncle and friend to all who knew him. A man of great means has been taken from us all, yet his will lives on, perpetuated forever by those whose lives he touched. Certainly the world would be a much better place in which to live if there were more people like Grampa Lucien.

Lucien moved to Crockett Ridge when he was a young man. He courted Cherry Noble and eventually they were united in marriage in 1927. They made their home on a piece of land given to them by Cherry's grandfather, Melville Dunham. Through the initial years of their marriage he worked in the woods in the winter and on the roads during the summer, using his own truck for hire. One of the roads which Lucien helped build was the Crockett Ridge Road. Of their three children, Lucien Jr. was the first born, followed by Albert and then Natalie. The backbone of the family structure came through Lucien's dedication to work and his high morals. Their home was a haven for hard work, love and fun. The strength that these qualities brought to the family was obvious when one entered the front door of the home, which was open to all and appreciated by many.

A new era came into being with the passage of their children into adulthood and lives of their own. Lucien and Cherry's first wave of grandchildren came in the late '40s and continues on. The addition of grandchildren brought new joy and strength to the family, allowing Grampa and Grammie the opportunity to once again give of themselves. They treated their grandchildren as children, and over the years many of them came to consider the farm home.

In the early months of 1966 double tragedy struck with the untimely deaths of their eldest son, Lucien Jr., and Lucien Sr.'s brother, Oliver. Lucien and Cherry came forward and filled the vacancies which these tragedies created. They seemed to make gains out of their losses, which strengthened the family. Lucien and Cherry's love for people was not limited to family. They shared their love and understanding ways with many people, including neighbors, other farmers and just anyone who was in need. In a period of sorrow over Grammie Cherry's death and in an effort to cope with this great loss, Grampa Lucien related this simple axiom which exemplified his philosophy, "She's gone—she's not coming back—and that's all there is to it." Simplicity and truth in life led a man of great mind and means to think in this way, and we know all too well that this is what he would say right here—right now.

The life of Lucien Frechette will touch generations to come. "The Ridge" will always kindle the special memories that were shared between him and others. The love which Lucien and Cherry shared with all of us will flourish through eternity. An era has now passed us by, but Lucien's strength lives on, towering high above whoever committed the cowardly act of taking this life which meant so much to us all.

Brent Dunham and Dale Eric Frechette

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to two articles in the April 6, 1988 issue of The Citizen. I was pleased to read that the high school was concerned with what the former graduates had to say about their education. I hope their comments will be taken seriously. While the overall report was positive, the responses did express specific areas for improvement. I hope these areas will be examined and addressed.

I was disturbed by the article about the selectmen's view of the school budget and teacher salaries. It brought back my feelings as a student at Telstar that all the towns were concerned with was their money, not the students. Teachers may earn more than the average factory worker, but is that wrong? I think if you want quality education you have to pay the teachers what they deserve. If you aren't satisfied with the quality of education you are getting for your money, do something about it. There was an excellent article in Reader's Digest (April 1988) on paying the best teachers more.

I was upset by the remark that teachers only work 180 days. Teachers are not part-time professionals. The teachers I remember worked long days. Some coached sports teams for nominal pay; many continued their education. The teachers would often show up for extracurricular activities that the public neglected to support.

I graduated in 1961 and I have taken

The remaining half of the total budget increase, Mr. Craig said, will cover increased salaries and benefits, contracted services and fuel oil.

Unlike last year, this year's overall budget increase and the increase in the amount to be raised locally are roughly equal—approximately 13 percent. Last year the district approved an overall budget increase of 19 percent, but the amount to be raised locally increased only 6 percent.

Superintendent Craig said the relatively higher increase in the local assessment component of this year's budget is due primarily to the fact that last year much of the teacher salary increases were offset by block grant money from the state. The increase in local property valuation has also reduced the percentage of funds received from the state, he said.

Superintendent Craig said he was optimistic the budget would pass as proposed. Acknowledging that "there's always resistance out there," he said he felt the increased involvement of parents, volunteers and other citizens with the school system has led to a greater understanding of the district's needs.

The per-pupil cost of educating students in the SAD #44 system is currently slightly above the state average, according to figures recently released by the State Department of Educational and Cultural Services.

The report puts the average SAD #44 cost for educating students in grades K-3 at $2,442 per year, while educating students in grades 9-12 costs an estimated $3,271 per year. The comparable state averages are $2,363 and $3,137.

According to the report, the per-pupil costs in SAD #17, the Oxford Hills District, are considerably below the state average—$2,064 for K-3 students and $2,555 for 9-12 students.

The per-pupil costs calculated in the report do not include the cost of transportation, vocational or special education programs or debt service.

The District Budget Meeting will be Monday, April 25, at 7 p.m. in the Telstar Regional High School auditorium.

der for paving specifies the work will be completed within 60 days. However, the paving will likely not go out to bid until mid-summer, Mr. Lynch said.

In addition to the expected paving project, the National Guard is expected to return to the airport again this summer to complete the removal of stumps uprooted during the construction of the new runway.

In other airport developments, the selectmen Monday night instructed the town manager to seek a subdivision permit from the Planning Board for the town's industrial park at Col. Dyke Field. There are four lots—out of the original six—still vacant at the park. Two were purchased from the town by GAMM Inc. last year for the garment manufacturer's new factory.

The selectmen voted to attach certain covenants to be included as part of the subdivision application. These include the following:

- Enterprises building in the park shall be used for light industry only.
- No building shall be constructed within 50 feet of the paved portion of the Northwest Bethel Road or within 80 feet of the centerline of any subdivision road.
- No more than 40 percent of the trees within 50 feet of the paved portion of the Northwest Bethel Road may be cut.
- The Town of Bethel reserves the timber harvesting rights for each lot.
- The main building on any lot shall be constructed and occupied within two years of the date of purchase of the lot.
- The town reserves an easement above each lot for the passage of aircraft and prohibits construction of any structure awhile to decide what career I wanted. I have recently started to study at UMF for a degree in secondary social science education. I credit my high school teachers for showing me how a teacher who works hard can pass along their enthusiasm for the subject to the student. Compared to other careers that require a bachelor's degree, teaching pays on the low end of the scale, not so much in starting salary but for dedicated veteran teachers. If society wants these teachers to stay in the profession and wants bright young people to enter the profession, they must give them some respect.

I could go on in defense of teachers, but I won't. I will urge more of the community to get involved and see if teachers are really overpaid and underworked. How can adults expect their children to take their education seriously and respect their teachers if the adults don't value education and respect teachers themselves?

(10:30 a.m. PST, 11:30 a.m. MST, 12:30 p.m. CST, 1:30 EST). Once aloft, each balloon's journey will be determined by the altitude it reaches and the prevailing winds.

SAD #44 is the first Maine school to serve as a National Data Analysis Site for the National Balloon Launch-Student Weather Experiment.

Students will attach a brightly colored postcard with their name and location of their launch site to each balloon, which requests that the balloon's finder fill in where it was found and drop the postcard and pre-addressed card in a mailbox returning it to the American Geological Institute.

The U.S. Geological Survey will supply the latitude and longitude of the launch and recovery sites and using this information, will produce a map indicating which direction the balloons went and how far they traveled.

All the cards for each launch site will then be returned to the students who will participate in a science class discussing air currents, demography, predictions and risk analysis.

Originator and coordinator of the balloon launch, the Triangle Coalition for Science and Technology Education, is composed of member organizations from business, industry, labor, science, engineering, medicine and science education, all of whom are committed to the improvement of science education for all students.

The helium gas for this 1,000 balloon launch project has been funded by the Boise Cascade Paper Group, of Rumford.

National Science and Technology Week, April 24-30 is sponsored by the National Science Foundation, in Washington, D.C.

The public is invited to witness the launch at any of the following sites: Andover Elementary School in Andover, Crescent Park School in Bethel, Telstar Regional High School playing fields in Bethel and Woodstock Elementary School in Bryant Pond.

Rotary Club notes

The Bethel Rotary Club will be sponsoring an auction at Telstar Regional High School June 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., to raise funds for scholarships and other club sponsored activities. Items for the auction are being solicited from local businesses as well as from the general public.

The organizers are seeking quality items for the auction. If you have anything of value to donate, please contact Dave Murphy, at 824-2041. Your cooperation in this venture would be greatly appreciated.

that would restrict the flight of aircraft over the lots.

• All utilities in the industrial park shall be placed underground.

In other action, the selectmen raised the fee for sewer connections from $250 per dwelling or unit to $300 per dwelling or unit.

The board voted 4-0 (Selectman Victor Coolidge was absent) to award to Peter Kuzky the project of remodeling an unused office of the Cole Block into a selectmen's meeting room. Mr. Kuzky had estimated the cost at around $13,000.

By a vote of 3-1 (Selectman Arlan Jodrey opposed), the board decided to change the policy of having town crews tear private driveways. Town Manager Lynch explained that it was another job placed on the already hard-working road department. The policy is now rescinded.

The selectmen approved a number of articles to be placed on the warrant for Town Meeting. These include: an article to establish a Conservation Commission as a town board; an article amending the street excavation ordinance to provide for higher fees and tighter enforcement of street opening permits; an article to increase Planning Board membership by two alternate members; an article to allow town officials to disburse money collected as town fees without specific authorization of Town Meeting; a housekeeping article to allow the town to participate in MMA's self-insured worker's pool. (The town is already participating but without the requisite updated vote of Town Meeting, Mr. Lynch said.)

The selectmen will meet next Tuesday night to hear a report on what to do about the town's sewer system and how much it will cost. The report was prepared by Dubois & King as part of an agreement with the DEP to allow The Bethel Inn to hook up its condos to the town sewer. The Inn paid for the study, which cost around $13,000.

The selectmen, next Tuesday night, will also take a second look at the proposed fiscal 1989 budget, which is expected to leave the Budget Committee by the end of this week. The selectmen will make their final recommendations at that time.

The restoration of funds to the shade tree budget, which Mr. Douglass had opposed, put $1,700 into that line item. With members of the Beautification Committee on hand to press their case for shade trees on Main Street, the committee compromised on their earlier stand, despite some strong feelings on both sides of the issue.

"I feel we've got to hold the line some place," said Jane Young, "and this is something we could live without."
Committee member John Todd asked those opposed to explain their opposition and Dick Douglass said, "My main reason [for voting against the expenditure] is snow removal [difficulties]."

The Beautification Committee's Fred Burk countered, "I don't think that's a valid criticism," saying other towns clear snow from streets with trees on the curb. Mr. Douglass then suggested, "How would it be if you took it [the funds] off the Cole Block [renovations]."

Following two votes against restoring funds to the account, committee member Arnel Brown suggested $1,700, which is the amount finally agreed upon. [The original item had requested $4,050.] "I wouldn't mind seeing a few trees," he said. "I'd like to see if the trees could survive."

In other budget-cutting moves, the committee reduced the gasoline allocation for the town garage to $6,500, from the $8,000 requested by the selectmen.

any figures it can operate a profitable system if there are only 18 homes per mile—along a road where cable would be strung.

The basic system offered by the company is a package containing 18 channels. The channels are WTBS, USA, Nashville, ESPN, CNN, Home Shopping Club, Discovery, MTV, Nickelodeon, CNN, CNN-Headline, Arts & Entertainment, FNN, NBC, ABC, CBS, PBS, plus one new channel to be announced. The cost for the basic service is $19.99 per month, Mr. Lev said.

Additionally, the company offers Showtime for an extra $4.95 and Disney for an extra $5.95. The two together, combined with the basic package, can be had for $29.99 monthly.

Mr. Lev said his company could have the system operational within six months of getting approval from Town Meeting. However, he added, if construction problems crop up—such as having to make room on the utility poles for the TV cable—the time-frame could stretch up to one year. Construction would involve setting up a head-end (that is, a site with satellite dishes) plus facilities to transmit the signals over the cables that would be strung on existing utility poles.

At the proposed special town meeting, voters will also be asked to approve two other ordinances: one would establish fees to be paid to the town by victualers and lodging houses. The other would set a limit to the height of structures in town.

spring cleaning debris and household trash to the transfer station—at least for near future.

Ms. Bartlett said, however, that if service from Norridgewock is discontinued again at some time in the future, the transfer station could run out of room—and be forced to close—in as little as one week.

That's all the more reason, she said, to try to make maximum use of the transfer station's limited capacity. That means separating and recycling glass and newspapers, and packing all trash as tightly as possible.

The Norridgewock situation produced one pleasantly ironic reversal: while the landfill was closed, Maine waste was being shipped to a landfill in Massachusetts.

Superintendent's Newsletter

Dewaine B. Craig

During the past two weeks I have spent time discussing the SAD #44 budget and its building process. In this week's edition I will be spending time covering the District Warrant and the Annual District Budget Meeting to be held on April 25, 1988.

The District's Annual Report has been mailed to the residents of the five district towns and should arrive at your homes by this Friday at the latest. There are extra copies at my office and extra copies will be at the meeting on Monday evening.

The warrant for this year's meeting is found on pages 29 and 30 of the Annual Report. The warrant has nine articles in all. Please allow me to discuss each of them with you.

Article 1 will be to choose a moderator. This is an election from the members assembled on that evening.

Articles II and III concern the Vocational budget for N.O.V.A. These articles must have an exact count to be recorded and mailed to the school office in Mexico.

Article IV is the major money article in the annual budget. This article has both state and local money involved. The total amount of the money is $3,560,376, with the local share being $1,421,041. The remaining money will come from the state.

Article V is the article which deals with the debt service payments owed on the district's buildings. Like Article IV, this article also has a state and local matching of money. This year's debt service allocation totals $243,030, with the local share to be $38,382.

Article VI is the additional local funds needed above the amount found in Article IV to fund the General Fund Budget. The recommended amount for FY '89 is $563,155.

Article VIII is the article that deals with our Adult and Community Education program. Like articles II, III, IV, and V, this article has both state and local money combined to make the total. The total of this article is $38,656, with the local share to be $35,256.

Article IX as stated allows us to apply for and expend money for the operations of educational programs as stated.

This is a brief overview of the warrant articles found on pages 29 and 30 of the Annual District Report.

I hope that my three columns concerning the budget process in our district have been informative. I invite you to call my office, at 824-2185, if you have questions. I also invite you, the residents of SAD #44, to attend the District Budget Meeting on Monday, April 25, at 7 p.m., in the Telstar auditorium.

New owner of COMSAT wants lower assessment

MCI, the communications corporation that recently purchased the former COMSAT site in Andover, has objected to the valuation placed on the property.

According to Selectman Laura Hutchins, company officials contend that the $2 million of assessed valuation is unrealistically high. Company officials have told the selectmen MCI purchased the facility for $500,000, which would be the realistic value for the real estate and equipment at the facility.

Selectman Hutchins added that MCI officials sold part of the property back to COMSAT, further reducing their purchase cost to $480,000. She said this is the value MCI feels would be a just assessment.

The town has about $28 million in valuation. If $1.5 million were taken off the tax rolls, there would be a sharp increase in the mill rate, and thus in the taxes the average taxpayer would have to pay, Mrs. Hutchins said.

Discussions are continuing between the selectmen and lawyers of the two companies, according to Mrs. Hutchins.

Telstar thinclads win first meet of season

The Telstar Boys' Runnin' Rebels started the season with a big win over Hebron Academy last Wednesday, tallying 87 points Hebron's 58.

Individual performances were as follows: Jamie Blake, first place in the long jump, the triple jump and the 440; Robbie Shields, first place in the 100 and javelin, second place in the discus; Bob Chase, first in the 880 and three second-place finishes in the mile, the two-mile and the high jump.

Also, Todd Davis, first place in the high jump, second place in both the triple jump and the 440; Stan Moore, first in the 220 and third in the 100; Steve Learned, first in the pole vault and third in the high hurdles; Fred Kuvaja, first in the discus and third in the shot put.

Also, Jason Miserocchi, first in the two-mile; D. J. Parker, second in both the high and intermediate hurdles and a third in the javelin; Greg Simmons, third in the discus; Chris Buckingham, third in the intermediate hurdles; Tony Jordan, third in the mile; Dan Thurston and Laren Corrin tied for third in the pole vault.

Anyone wishing to have a table to sell their own things please call Alice Hoyt, evenings at 665-2460, or Denise Swan, 875-2102. Delegates and alternates were chosen for convention, which will be held June 23 and 24 at Waterville. Delegates are Denise Swan and Stacy House, alternates are Bessie House and Verna Swan. Denise Swan was presented her past president pin. It was voted to buy a flag for the Library. Next meeting will be a tasting party and flowers will be fixed for the graves for Memorial Day. Elena is to ask the Grade 5 and 6 students to write essays for Memorial Day. Refreshments were served by Ruth Dunham and Bessie House.

Mrs. Steve McKen has returned home from the Stephens Memorial Hospital. Kenneth Hoyt has been visiting his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hoover, Avoca, New York.

Peace-walkers passing through Bethel Saturday

Committed to the cause of world peace, some 15 or 20 persons will arrive in Bethel Saturday. They are walking from Bangor to New York City, which they hope to reach in time for a special UN session on disarmament.

At 7 p.m. on Saturday, the peace-walkers will meet with area residents at the West Parish Congregational Church to share concerns about peace. And on Sunday small groups of the walkers will visit some local congregations to worship and say a few words about their pilgrimage.

The "Walk for World Peace" was initiated by the Nipponzan Myohoji community of western Massachusetts to rally support for the United Nations' third special session on disarmament, to be held in New York City in early June. The walk is meant to express the dedication of the walkers to a world without weapons and to talk with people in communities along their route.

Depending on citizens of these communities for food and shelter is part of the discipline under which the walkers have disciplined themselves. The walkers also invite local residents to walk with them for an hour, a day or as long as they wish. According to the organizers and others who have participated in similar walks, giving and receiving of hospitality and walking and talking together encourage a spirit of sharing, in which armaments and violence no longer have a place.

Pre-registration for the follow-up to the Citizens Community Conference is required. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

KEEPING A SHARP EYE OUT FOR SPRING, these finches must have been a bit concerned when all the fresh greenery turned to whiteness last weekend.

Follow-up to last fall's Citizens Conference set for Sunday, May 1st

The Citizens Community Conference six-month follow-up will be held on Sunday evening, May 1, at the Bethel Inn Conference Center from 6:45 to 9:30, sponsored by the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee and SAD #44 Adult and Community Education.

The session is open, free-of-charge, to anyone who attended the Oct. 30, 1987 conference in Bethel, as well as to anyone who wishes they had attended or who has joined one of the post-conference working groups on critical issues facing the SAD #44 area.

The follow-up session will feature reports by the working groups on their activities of the past six months. Groups are being asked to report on both content and process issues relating to their activities, looking at such questions as what model of leadership they adopted, how they shared information, who else they sought to involve in their issue, as well as what actions were completed.

A talk-back panel will summarize elements common to the groups and highlight things that made a particular group most effective. The working groups will also have time to re-state their goals and develop an action plan for the next step in their process.

Pre-registration for the follow-up to the Citizens Community Conference is required. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

A beautiful spring morning, only that it is quite cold. Guess we still have to wait for that real warm weather we have been waiting for. However, things are beginning to stir and grow. Our bleeding heart has put up lots of shoots and the columbine has started. Strawberry plants are growing from the centers so we know most of them are still alive and the wild rose bush looks as though it was starting to grow a little. May have set it back some as Russell has replanted it in a different place as of yesterday, but they are hardy and I'm sure it will grow.

Russell has started seeds in the house but hasn't put them in his cold frame yet as it has been too cold. Hopefully it will soon be warm enough so he can put them out. He has been clearing brush and cutting some along the tree borders out-back and has trimmed up the lower area from blackberry bushes, etc. Usually keeps busy doing something whenever he can. He likes to work with plants as I do. Did a lot of repotting yesterday myself and have more to do when I get some more plant material to do it with.

Our squirrels seem to have left us for the season but still have birds coming and some new ones. Not as many chickadees as there have been but some still come to visit.

Had planned to go to West Paris Grange for past lectures night a week ago but couldn't make it due to illness. Russell and Peggy went and held offices. I would have liked to if I could have but just couldn't make it. They said it was a good meeting with a good program for which I am glad.

Didn't do too much myself on Friday but Russell went out raking some and said he got his neck twisted from doing it. He has trouble that way anyway and some things just irritate it more. Russell and I were both resting Saturday afternoon when I had callers to see what I had for African Violets. Didn't have the one the lady wanted but hope to have more soon. Have a lot of them starting but sorry to say they take time to get big enough to blossom. If I could only win Megabucks, I'd build an addition on and have it for the violets. I love to grow them and would like more room to do it.

Wynona, Michael and girls came for a short visit on Saturday afternoon. They had another girl with them, a friend of Courtney, who was visiting her. I hadn't heard them drive in as I was down in my bedroom where there are no windows facing the road so didn't know they were here until the girls came down the hall and spoke to me. Jumped me most out of my mind. I was concentrating on the sewing I was doing.

Peggy and Russell went to Greene to the dance in the evening. Said there was a good crowd there and they had a good time.

Sunday was a lazy day. Russell worked around what he felt like but was tired after being out Saturday night. I did a little of this and a little of that and sewed a little. Am making birthday dresses for my granddaughters. Their birthdays will soon be here and they like the dresses that I make for them. Have found out how to carry a second color of yarn and have knit a couple of sweaters and have another started. It is fun to put patterns into them and see how pretty they will be. Never did too much knitting before but enjoy doing it. Got to get back to crocheting again, also. Things to make for next Christmas.

Had expected to go to the doctor's on Tuesday but he had an emergency and had to cancel some appointments and mine was one of them, so hope to go today instead. Allergies are acting bad this

Girls track team shines in practice meet

The Telstar Regional High School girls' track team ran a practice meet against Hebron Academy last Wednesday. Many of the girls performed extremely well, according to Coach Judith Kersey.

High scores for the day were turned in by Deb Bodwell, Ellen Hastings, Sherry Nichols and Amy Blake. Other good scores were by Jenn Gould, Val Morton, Nancy Carter, Diana Moxcey, Sharnan Tyler, Paula Michaud, Stephanie Percival, Kelly Amund, November Yates, Christine Hunt, Jenn Hutchins, Angie Apple, Tracey Weston, Jessica Kallejian, Julie Denison and Vicki Eastman.

Three girls qualified for the regional meet. Deb Bodwell in the shot put, Amy Blake in the 300-meter hurdles and Ellen Hastings in the 200-meter dash.

Time of year and need a little help. I can sympathize with others who may be having the same difficulty.

Lawrence and Grace are still working on their motorhome, getting it the way they want it for traveling. It needed a lot of work done and they have done a lot on it. The carpeting is to be put down soon or is being put down as Ken can come to do it. Takes time to get all these little things done.

West Paris Grange will be having Booster Night at their next meeting, which will be April 21, I believe. They will be giving out certificates to Golden Sheaf members. Also they will be giving their Citizenship Award, so the meeting will be an open one with refreshments served after the meeting and program. Each member is being asked to bring someone

STRESS MANAGEMENT COURSE RESCHEDULED TO RUN IN MAY

Due to low enrollment, the Stress Management Course sponsored by the Health Education Department of Stephens Memorial Hospital has been rescheduled to run for three consecutive weeks on Wednesday, May 11, Thursday, May 19 and Wednesday, May 25. Classes are held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the board room.

This three-session program explores various relaxation techniques, methods of behavior modification, normal versus abnormal ranges of feelings, techniques for dealing with job stress and more and will be conducted by Kenneth G. Hamilton, M.D.

The fee for this course is $60, which includes evening refreshments. For registration, call the Health Education Department Office at 743-5933, Ext. 471.

With them for the entertainment. This is a way for folks to see what the Grange is all about and how interesting it can be.

May 7 will be the night for their next dance, so don't forget the date. Lots of fun was had at the last dance with good music and should be just as good the next time. May 14 will be a flea and food sale at the West Paris Grange Hall. If you have items to sell and want a table, call one of the Grange members and let them know. The price of the tables is right and there is usually good food to be brought to help the Grange as well as different items on different tables. Come and see all there is to buy and have a good time doing it.

Take care, one and all and have a good week.

Woodstock School

By DIXIE INMAN

On April 14, several new children for the kindergarten 1988-89 class were seen in the school hallway. Each child had vision, hearing and speech tests. This was an exciting day as they got a peek at their classroom.

Friday afternoon many activities were planned for the students to get a fun start for vacation. Some of the various activities were seed planting, storytime, music and movement, sign language, share circle, water color and charcoal.

Monday, April 25, the Woodstock School will participate in a helium balloon launch along with the other elementary schools in SAD #44. This is a National Scientific Balloon Launch, sponsored by the Triangle Coalition for Science & Technology Education.

Students from Maine to California and Texas to Alaska will be releasing their tagged balloons at approximately 1 p.m. We'll be very anxious to see where the balloons land. Come join the fun if you'd like to see the sky fill with bright colors.

The entire school will be spending the day at The Norlands in Livermore Falls on Thursday, April 28, leaving immediately after classroom attendance and returning to ride afternoon buses. While at The Norlands, the children will have the opportunity to divide into groups by grade level and visit various sites, to participate in different activities including: game of the 1800s, farm visit, kitchen activities, story hour and oxcart rides. It is recommended the students dress according to the period of the 1800s and bring an appropriate lunch of sandwich, fruit, etc. in an effort to keep in the tradition of that era. Money raised through the walk-a-thon in the fall will pay the admission for the students. Parents are welcome to join this trip, but must be willing to pay $4.50. Everyone should enjoy this exciting adventure.

The Woodstock team will again participate in the Regional Special Olympic games being held at Gould Academy Friday, April 29. Each child will compete in three track and field events. These will also count as qualifying heats for the Maine State Special Olympics which will be held in June on the UMO campus.

Spring has sprung! Softball season for grades 4, 5 and 6 begins Monday, April 25. Practices will be Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday from 2 to 3 p.m. Practice will hopefully be held on the field out back. A game schedule will be sent out, so parents and friends can come to cheer the players on.

Irma Thompson is back from a two-week stay in a health facility in Brookline, Mass. She feels fine now. She says she had a "fruitful time" there, particularly having the opportunity to see Christian Science services on TV. She Mitchell Noseworthy and her husband Gary, of Newmarket, N.H., were visiting last weekend with Melinda and Tom Remington, at their newly opened Remington-Hill Bed and Breakfast. She used to be the music teacher in SAD #44. She now teaches in the Exeter, N.H., school system.

By COLISTA MORGAN

Maybe I have written some of this before but to me it is worth repeating. Nature has a way to find the peace that is always there within each of us. I think peace originates within ourselves, that the setting in which we recognize it is just the key turning. I consider myself more fortunate than many in that I have lived in pleasant places and have been able to fully indulge in my mania for birds, my unwearied passion for sunrises and sunsets, for the moon afloat in the dark sky—a silver silver or one rising full and golden.

Sitting here by the window, looking down past the trees to the pond, I see daily miracles. Only this week the other entertained all of us along the pond. It has been named "The exuberant sportsman" and "The clown of the wild." It frolics in the water like a small dolphin playing follow-the-leader, then pops to the surface. This one came up with a fish and on to the ice; played with it for a while, then began eating it. An otter is streamlined in shape, has a whip-like tail, short powerful legs and webbed feet, so it is a champion swimmer and tobogganing is its favorite sport in winter. The male's size is from three-and-a-half to four-and-a-half feet long and weighs up to 25 pounds. The puffy upper lip and cheeks hide strong muscles that clamp down like a steel trap.

Meadows and hillsides that were predominantly brown suddenly are turning green. Forsythias are soon to be a golden bloom. Jonquils lift pennants of gold. There is no conclusion to nature's cycle. The times of birth and growth blend into one another. With the spring rains nature raises her baton and the symphony begins, as the singing waters start their journeys to the ocean.

No longer is earth a helpless prisoner, for snow shrinks away. One knows when singing waters begin their tune, spring is here.

A tribute:
Sooner or later as we pass along the rough road of life, we have to face up to the loss of somebody near and dear to us. The older we get the more such losses we have to bear.

A wave of sadness swept through our homes on Thursday, April 7, when the news came that our dear friend and neighbor, Anna (Tamminen) Jarvenpaa, had been called to her eternal rest. I have known her since I came here to teach in 1926.

and bring an appropriate lunch of sandwich, fruit, etc. in an effort to keep in the tradition of that era. Money raised through the walk-a-thon in the fall will pay the admission for the students.

The Woodstock team will again participate in the Regional Special Olympic games being held at Gould Academy Friday, April 29. Each child will compete in three track and field events. These will also count as qualifying heats for the Maine State Special Olympics which will be held in June on the UMO campus.

Spring has sprung! Softball season for grades 4, 5 and 6 begins Monday, April 25. Practices will be Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday from 2 to 3 p.m. Practice will hopefully be held on the field out back. A game schedule will be sent out, so parents and friends can come to cheer the players on.

Irma Thompson is back from a two-week stay in a health facility in Brookline, Mass. She feels fine now. She says she had a "fruitful time" there, particularly having the opportunity to see Christmas Science services on TV.

Sue Mitchell, Newbury and her husband Gary, of Newmarket, N.H., were visiting last weekend with Melinda and Tom Remington, at their newly opened Remington-Hill Bed and Breakfast. She used to be the music teacher in SAD #44. She now teaches in the Exeter, N.H., school system.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Maybe I have written some of this before but to me it is worth repeating. Nature has a way to find the peace that is always there waiting within each of us. I think peace originates within ourselves, that the setting in which we recognize it is just the key turning. I consider myself more fortunate than many in that I have lived in pleasant places and have been able to fully indulge in my mania for birds, my unwearying passion for sunrises and sunsets, for the moon aloft in the dark sky—a silver sliver or one rising full and golden.

Sitting here by the window, looking down past the trees to the pond, I see daily miracles. Only this week the other entertained all of us along the pond. It has been named "The exuberant sportsman" and "The clown of the wild." It frolics in the water like a small dolphin playing follow-the-leader, then pops to the surface. This one came up with a fish and on to the ice; played with it for awhile, then began eating it. An otter is streamlined in shape, has a whip-like tail, short powerful legs and webbed feet, so it is a champion swimmer and tobogganing is its favorite sport in winter. The male's size is from three-and-a-half to four-and-a-half feet long and weighs up to 25 pounds. The puffy under lip and cheeks hide strong muscles that clamp down like a steel trap.

Meadows and hillsides that were predominantly brown suddenly are turning green. Forsythias are soon to be a golden bloom. Jonquills lift pennants of gold. There is no conclusion to nature's cycle. The times of birth and growth blend into one another. With the spring rains nature raises her baton and the symphony begins, as the singing waters start their journeys to the ocean.

No longer is earth a helpless prisoner, for snow shrinks away. One knows when singing waters begin their tune, spring is here. A tribute: Sooner or later as we pass along the rough road of life, we have to face up to the loss of somebody near and dear to us. The older we get the more such losses we have to bear.

A wave of sadness swept through our homes on Thursday, April 7, when the news came that our dear friend and neighbor, Anna (Tammien) Jarvenpaa, had been called to her eternal rest. I have known her since I came here to teach in 1926.

SOMETIMES ALL YOU CAN DO IS WAIT AND WATCH. Members of the Bethel Fire Department kept a close eye on a "controlled burn" grassfire on Bond Island last Thursday. The fire burned over much of the island but did not jump the river.

Memories of her gentle ways and kindness will remain with us as a monument that shall endure. She liked gardening, animals, children and grownups and was a keen student in nature. She traveled many miles as one of my "hiking pals," so was familiar with the woods and hills, the mountains and streams.

Anna belonged to that generation of housewives whose great pride was caring for her husband and her home. Anna, I'll recall the kindly things you did, your smile of friendship true, and I'll always be thankful to have known a friend like you.

Our sympathy goes to her husband of 56 years, her brother, Nestor, and other family members. C.C.M.

Weekend callers at the home of Fred and Rena Curtis were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Strait and son; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Cogswell, Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis, son and daughter.

QUILTERS TAKING VACATION

Cross Country Quilters have discontinued their regular meetings until fall. Any inquiries regarding the club may be directed to Virginia Keniston, 824-2661. Mrs. Keniston, who has a new basting or tying frame, has had requests to tie a few old quilts. If she can get at least six to eight volunteers, she would like to have a few morning workshops to finish these quilts. Volunteers may call her, and with enough helpers she would schedule these in the next few weeks.

Buckfield; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis, Norway and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heikkinen, Livermore.

David and Mary Holt, Standish, were at his parents' home on Sunday and Mary spent a few hours with me. Ann Holt, Bethel, was also there. I attended the Delta Kappa Gamma meeting with Lettie Brooks at Woodstock on Saturday.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a comment on Milton and Shakespeare:

"Milton is our greatest poet after Shakespeare. But no two poets have less in common. Understanding Shakespeare is a profound experience in broadening one's humanity; understanding Milton is a profound experience in deepening one's aesthetic perception and widening one's intellectual horizon." Bernard Grabner

At the next Society meeting, Patricia and Jeff Parsons will talk about the game they have invented called Ta Ka Radi. It's made from wood blocks made locally.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

Eveline saw two nice big fat robins on the front lawn April 14, so I guess spring has sprung.

It's that time of year again. The smelting nets have been dusted off and the rubber boots are out. But it is still cold and windy.

The spring dance at West Sumner Grange Hall by the "Old Parisians" and other musicians is set for May 21. It will be for heart and cancer.

Gus Spurr, trumpet and singer, John Horne, sax, and Pete Andrews, bass viol, will be back from Florida to be with them and they will all be happy.

There will be a supper, sponsored by the Grange, from 5:30-7 p.m. with the popular entertainment and Early Bird Dancing upstairs before the regular dancing at 8 p.m. Let's all go shine up our dancing slippers.

Some of our Florida friends have called on Roy and Bea Dyment, Sarasota, Fla. Roy had the drug store at West Paris and they have many friends. Bea has suffered two strokes and is making a good comeback. Roy takes very good care of her and the house.

Robert Anderson Jr., Burlington, Mass., spent the weekend with the Vatchers. Eveline was sick so Joe manned the kitchen.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Gerald Kimball, a former North Paris lad. He and his wife, Thelma, attended our monthly suppers and we will miss him.

The Root Lawrences visited Brenda LaCroix. Their callers were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath.

Did we all get our checks in the mail for Internal Revenue Service?

It's nice to look out and see the green grass peeking up through the old brown grass and jonquils and daffodils are in bloom, the asparagus bed is doing well until a frost comes along and nips it in its growth.

Vacation is in the air this week. Isn't it nice to live in the country? No condos in our hamlet but they may pop up and surprise us.

FOALS FROLICKED IN THE APRIL SNOWSTORM SATURDAY, but George Hooper's older Arabians generally stayed in the shelter of the trees in their Bryant Pond pasture. There are currently eight horses in the herd, and Mr.

Hooper is expecting four more foals to be born in late-spring. Saturday's storm left nearly a foot of snow in some areas, but within a few days most of the snow was gone, and spring continued her quickening arrival.

Lecture at Gould to focus on works of Ruth Moore

Mount Desert Island native Dennis Damon will read from the works of Ruth Moore in a public presentation at Gould Academy next Thursday, April 28. The lecture, which begins at 7:30, will be held in the Bingham Auditorium. It is open to the public at no charge.

Ruth Moore is the acclaimed author of 14 regional novels, including "Spoonhandle," "Speak to the Winds," "Candlemas Bay," and "The Weir," plus two books of poetry.

Coming from a family with a long and strong seafaring history, Mr. Damon was hooked by the writings of fellow Mount Desert Island native Ruth Moore. Mr. Damon is the youngest of six children born to Dorothy and Llewellyn Damon, a colorful pair who raised their family in the village of Northeast Harbor before the character of the town, the coast and the state changed.

Mr. Damon, as a child, experienced first-hand the strong, goodhearted folk that populate Moore's novels and knows from experience the work and hardship they faced with courage, humor and determination. He readily admits that he holds many of Miss Moore's philosophies of life and similarly laments the passing of the age she so brilliantly evokes.

So compatible is this pair—a generation removed from each other—that Moore has shared many of her unpublished ballads with Damon, and has given him permission to share them with his audiences. Mr. Damon is an authentic Maine voice and flawlessly recreates the atmosphere of such ballads as "The Night Charley Tended Weir."

A paperback edition of the Moore ballads, collected in "Cold as a Dog and the Wind Northeast," republished by Gordon Bok, will be on sale after the performance.

County Democrats meet candidate for Congress

Oxford County Democrats filled the meeting room at the C.N. Brown Company headquarters, in South Paris, for the annual Get-Acquainted Spaghetti Supper for delegates and alternates to the upcoming Democratic State Convention. Over 70 county Democrats heard 2nd District Congressional candidate Ken Hayes describe his plans to "make the 2nd District first."

Mr. Hayes, a former state senator and a political science professor at the University of Maine, characterized Maine's 2nd District as a "district at risk," experiencing problems of unemployment, low salaries, labor unrest and loss of farms. He discussed the potential impact of the decommissioning of the Coast Guard station in the district, which will lead to a six-hour response time in the case of a maritime emergency as well as to weakened ability to combat drug smuggling on the coast.

During the terms of the incumbent representative, Republican Olympia Snowe, the 2nd District has become a major repository of trash from the northeast at dumps in Norridgewock and Hampden, with a new dump proposed to be located on top of an aquifer in Township 46, in Washington County.

Mr. Hayes pledged, if elected, that he would be an advocate for the people of the 2nd District, and will listen to his constituents and be a forceful voice for their interests. He emphasized the importance of increased levels of education, "a massive investment in our people," to prepare for the technological demands of the 21st century.

Responding to questions, Mr. Hayes disagreed with his opponent's support for Contra aid and described his intention to wage an active campaign with attention to issues. The Hayes campaign will be a grassroots organization, seeking to build a coalition of those who seek effective and responsive representation for the 2nd District.

Attorney General Jim Tierney addressed the Democrats on his recent trip to Russia with attorneys general from a number of other states. Oxford County Democratic Party Chairman Dennis Gray introduced candidates for county and state office who were present including, Malcolm MacDonald of Denmark, running for House District 48, Ida Luther of Mexico, running for House District 52, and Ginger Kelly of Bethel, seeking election as County Commissioner of District 1. Helen Adams of Buckfield spoke on behalf of her husband, Dick Adams, who was unable to attend, and who is a candidate for the House in District 51. Democratic incumbent legislators Jeff Mills, Ed and Phyllis Erwin, Don Twitchell, Francis Perry and Joe Walker were kept away at a late legislative session but sent their regards to the group. All incumbents, except Rep. Perry, are seeking re-election.

Several candidates were in attendance seeking support in races for party offices. Ruth Moss, of Sorrento, who is the incumbent national committeewoman, and Charles Micoileau, of Portland, incumbent national committeeman, spoke stressing party unity and pledged to support the Democratic presidential nominee, Boyd Ray, of Livermore Falls, Alva Morrison, of Newry, and Susan Mitchell, of Waterville, announced their candidacies as national convention delegates.

The May meeting of the Oxford County Democrats will be held at the state convention in Portland, May 13 and 14. There will be a dinner in the Rumford area in early June.

EPA outlaws woodstoves that pollute atmosphere

The wood stove which once warmed grandma's hearth, soup and soul, can be a major air pollutant, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The agency has banned from the market place all wood heaters manufactured after July 1 that fail to meet the EPA's new emission standards.

Specifically, the EPA has determined "that residential wood heaters cause, or contribute significantly to, air pollution, which may reasonably be anticipated to endanger public health and welfare" and has established new emission standards to be implemented in two phases.

In Phase 1, wood heaters manufactured after July 1 or sold at retail after July 1, 1990, must meet emission limits of 5.5 grams of particulate matter per hour for catalytic stoves and 8.5 grams per hour for non-catalytic stoves.

Phase 2 calls for emission limits of 4.1 and 7.5 grams per hour respectively, for catalytic and non-catalytic models manufactured after July 1, 1990 or sold at retail after July 1, 1992.

Catalytic stoves contain a device that helps achieve more efficient combustion at lower temperatures, thereby reducing fuel residue for discharge to the environment. EPA requires manufacturers of catalytic stoves to provide a two-year unconditional warranty on the catalyst and requires warnings on labels and operating manuals to monitor catalyst performance and to replace the catalyst when necessary. Owners also are prohibited by law from operating catalytic wood stoves after the catalyst has been removed.

The new standards will probably mean an increase in cost to stove purchasers, which will be offset by savings from reduced fuel consumption, according to technical observers.

A list of EPA-certified residential wood heaters is now available from the Bureau of Air Quality Control, Department of Environmental Protection, State House Station 17, Augusta, Maine 04333.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Executive Director Robin Zinchuk reports:

The monthly meeting of the board of directors was held last Thursday at the Casco Bank. Many thanks to Casco for the use of their facilities.

TA-KA-RADI-Patti and Jeff Parson—was welcomed as a new member.

The chamber has received permission to construct and erect an information bulletin board in the Snow Falls rest area, on Rte. 26. We know this will adequately represent all our business members to northbound traffic.

The Fundraising Committee reported that the recent dance was a financial success. Thanks to all who helped with it.

The Community Relations Committee reported that the business listing booklet project is underway. Letters are going out to all businesses in the area to try to extract all the proper information for their free listing. If there is any business owner in the SAD #44 area who does not get a letter, please call the chamber office, 824-2282, with your business name, address, phone number and category.

We want to make sure to include as many area businesses as possible. The committee asked one of the gifted and talented teachers, Arla Patch, to find a student to design the cover. She is going to have one of her pilot program art classes do it.

The Nominating Committee has a proposed slate of officers to present to the membership. I'll send out a ballot with this month's newsletter so that the membership can have a voice in the process prior to the annual meeting, which will be May 20, Friday evening, at The Bethel Inn. Cocktail hour will be from 6 to 7 p.m., with dinner at 7. Guest speaker is nationally known Maine humorist Bob Skoglund. Tickets are $15 per person and will be available soon. It is at this dinner that the prestigious Henry H. Hastings citizenship award is given, as well as the Business-of-the-Year award, Senior Citizen award and two outstanding senior awards. All are welcome to come!

The brochure mailing has been done to solicit interest in ads for this beautiful four-color piece. If any member business wants an ad and has not let us know, please call us. We need to know before Friday.

The Maine Association of Chamber Executives will meet in Bethel, at The Bethel Inn, on May 19 and 20. I will be attending these meetings.

We would like to invite a representative from the Canadian Consulate to speak at a breakfast meeting in June on the U.S.-Canadian Free Trade Agreement. More on this later.

The Mollycoddle Day Committee will be meeting with the Lions this Thursday evening at 7 p.m. to discuss further plans for the day—which is quickly approaching.

The Maine Chamber is sponsoring a workshop on attracting and retaining employees, on Wednesday, April 27, at the Senator Inn in Augusta, starting at 9 a.m. The speaker is Martha Kidd-Cyr, staffing manager for L.L. Bean. The cost is $10 for Maine Chamber members and $15 for non-members. Registration deadline is April 25, to the Maine Chamber, 126 Sewall St., Augusta, 04330, 04330.

The Little Peoples preschool went on a field trip Thursday to Record's Maple Orchard, on Route 26. Their instructor, Laurie Fleck, had several cars to provide transportation. The children rode on the tractor as they gathered the sap and later had snacks at various stages of boiled-down syrup. They took peanut butter sandwiches for a noon-time snack. This was an instructive lesson they will never forget.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews called on me Thursday afternoon. Arthur finished the ceiling and filled my woodbox before going home.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

We hope everyone is enjoying the spring break and will return refreshed and raring to go again! Monday, April 25, will be an extra vacation day for students, but parents and teachers will be meeting for conferences in the afternoon and evening. The Book Fair will be in progress on April 25 and 26 also.

Eileen Mowatt's Brownie Girl Scouts will be meeting on Tuesdays from now on, instead of Thursdays.

The 4th-graders in the district began their vacation week with the annual trip to the Shrine Circus, compliments of Oxford County Shriners. The students look forward to, and enjoy, this event every year.

The West Paris 5th-graders met and teamed up with their pen pals from Norway for a rousing few strings of bowling this past Friday. Some will continue to keep in touch even though the letters will no longer be written in class. Many thanks to the parents who helped with transportation and chaperoning.

Barry Jamison was a special guest of the 5th Grade on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Jamison was born with the condition called spina bifida, but he doesn't let that slow him down. He talked to the class about his work in the pit at Beechwood Speedway and his work as a volunteer fireman. He shared many aspects of his everyday life and concluded his visit by allowing Joe Webb to sit in his car, checking out the hand controls and turning on the fireman's flashing red light.

The 1st-graders are busy and involved with a home reading project. Two books can be read by the students or a parent can read one to the child. The parents sign a note every morning telling whether or not this was accomplished. The class is constructing a paper chain which grows longer and longer with every book read. Prizes will be awarded at the end of the two weeks and everyone will come away a winner.

Several students are also involved in the RIF Read-a-thon, so have extra incentive to read, read, read!

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Famed Arctic explorer Robert E. Peary (1856-1920), the first man to reach the North Pole (April 6, 1909) had a Bethel connection. His mother, Mary Wiley Peary, was the sister of Bethel physician Robert Goodwin Wiley (1807-1904). Peary visited his uncle here on numerous occasions. According to John Edward Weems, "Peary: the Explorer and the Man" (New York: St. Martin's Press, 1967), Peary also attended school in Bethel. The house that Peary visited in Bethel is in the Steam Mill, now owned by Donald and Bonnie York.

Newest individual members of the Bethel Historical Society are Justine Cooper, Longwood, Fla., and Albert E. Judkins, West Peru. Newest corporate member is Sunday River Ski Resort, of Newry. Latest contributors to the 1988 endowment campaign are Robert T. Barr, Old Greenwich, Conn., and Dr. Donald M. Christie, Jr., Poughkeepsie, N.Y. A hearty welcome is extended to these new members and much gratitude is expressed to the contributors to the 1988 endowment campaign.

Society Curator of Collections, Randall H. Bennett, made a presentation on Bethel architecture to the 5th Grade social studies class at Crescent Park School. Mr. Bennett presented slides of area buildings prior to the students venturing outside to the Common, where he pointed out various architectural features in the Broad Street Historic District. This activity is the final one of the year prior to the student trip to Sturbridge Village later this month.

All Gould Academy and Telstar Regional High School students planning to enter the 1988 Dr. Moses Mason Award contest are reminded that essays are due on or before May 1.

Jesse B. Chapman (1889-1969) recalled to Eva Bean (1895-1969) that he went with his father on Jan. 19, 1901 to view the train wreck that occurred two miles south of Bethel Hill. The accident, caused by a head-on collision, killed five and scattered debris, Chapman came away from the wreck with a pocket full of jack knives, which had spilled from a box broken open by the impact of the crash. This recollection is one of many contained in the papers of Eva Bean, now owned by the Bethel Historical Society.

Planning Board OKs bakery and antique shop

Before too long, Bethel will have two new retail stores. Main Street will once again have a bakery, and Broad Street will have an antique shop.

The Planning Board, at its meeting last Wednesday night, approved site plan permits for both enterprises after considerable discussion on the question of adequate parking.

The Bread and Butter Bake Shop is the idea of Diane Friedlander, who will set up her ovens at the former Railroadiana Museum. She expects to have baked goods for sale as well as for snacking with coffee at a small counter.

The antique shop was approved for the property of The Hammons House. Owner Sally Johnson intends to convert the former theater, on one side of the lot, into a retail store for the sale of antiques.

In other action, the board approved a subdivision plan for P. H. Chadbourne & Co.'s Chestnut Knoll subdivision, off the Flat Road. The subdivision will have 16 lots, of 5-8 acres each.

The board sent letters to two businesses in town cautioning them that they are not in compliance with the Site Plan Review Ordinance because they have established changes of use at their properties without the proper permits.

REP. MILLS BACKS BILLTO PRESERVE PUBLIC HOUSING

Rep. Jeffery N. Mills (D-Bethel) has been working actively in support of LD 2322, an act to preserve existing rental units constructed with federal assistance and tax benefits to house moderate and low income people. He is the co-sponsor of this legislation, together with Rep. Anne Rand, Rep. Annette Hoglund and Sen. Tom Andrews (all D-Portland).

The bill will require that the Maine State Housing Authority be given the first option to buy any building constructed under the low and moderate income housing subsidy programs. Rep. Mills and his fellow sponsors feel that the buildings were built for a specific purpose and that, while this legislation does not prevent the sale of such units, it will provide some protection next session.

Rep. Mills became involved with this legislation after residents of Bethel's Sudbury Village housing complex called the problem to his attention. Sen. Ed Erwin (D-Rumford) was also involved in the initial discussions.
